

Video Storyboard Template

Use this video to plan. For the storyboard below, it may be easier to print out and draw simple sketches and write notes. The “diagram” should be simple, like stick figures, that help you know what types of shots and angles you will take. Motion can be described in the video. Music and narration can be described in Audio.

Title of Video:	Determined Cats in the Workplace
Running Time (Planned):	90 seconds
Learning Objective:	Brief video about how cats will never leave you alone, and how the best thing to do is to just make enough room for them on your desk.
Materials Required:	Tripod, cell phone camera, potentially a desk chair for smooth camera panning.
Location(s) of Shooting:	My apartment
Preparation Required:	Storyboarding, low light set up, must be shot at night.

Video	Diagram	Audio
Fade-in to title screen
Wipe or fade in to an immaculate desk setup		Voiceover about how keeping a tidy, spacious desk can be good for productivity..
Jump cut to cat on the desk		..and then mention that the double purpose of a spacious desk is that it leaves enough room for cats who want attention.
More jump cuts of cat on the desk		Mention the potential issues that cats can cause when leaping onto your keyboard or stepping on your mouse while you're working.
Shot of myself lifting cat off desk that cuts to a lower shot of him being set down
Cut to desk-level shot of cat jumping back onto desk		Something along the lines of “ultimately, you're gonna need to take a break and pay attention to your cat.”
